JFK's Modified Test Ban Plan Hit By GOP

Say Kennedy Again Showing How Not To Deal With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans have closed ranks for a politically significant attack on President Kennedy's modified proposals for a nuclear test ban.

In language so similar as to indicate a prior meeting of the minds, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York contended Wednesday that Kennedy is retreating toward the Soviet position.

Dirksen and Halleck charged in a news conference that Kennedy had sent U.S. negotiators to Geneva "hat in hand" with concessions to the Soviets that were promptly rejected. They added that the nation now was witnessing "another example by the Kennedy administration of how not to deal with the Russians."

A few hours later Rockefeller said in a statement the Kennedy administration had "moved steadily toward the Soviet position" in efforts to get a treaty on nuclear weapons testing and controls.

He said that what he called "weakening of the U.S. proposals" made in March 1961 by the Kennedy administration even further seems to me to run a high risk of endangering our national security.

Rockefeller, who might become Kennedy's Republican opponent in 1964 if he wins re-election as governor this year, went on to say the Democratic President appeared to be making decisions without the public's knowing what proposals were being made.

There was no White House comment on the Republicans' remarks.

At Geneva Wednesday, U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean was reported to have told the 17-nation disarmament panel that his country is willing to reduce controls posts to 80, less than half the number previously proposed.

Welfare Chief Orders New Drug Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze has proposed new regulations which would give the government a watchdog role in investigation of use of new drugs from start to finish, and power to call off the trials if safety doubts arise.

Acting against the background of public and official concern over the sedative thalidomide, Celebrezze proposed today:

1. That the Food and Drug Administration be put on notice and given the full details about the distribution of drugs to doctors for investigation use on humans.
2. That clinical investigations, or use on humans, be based on adequate preclinical studies to assure safety.
3. That the clinical investigations themselves be properly planned, executed by qualified investigators, and that the Food and Drug Administration be kept fully informed during the progress of the investigations.
4. That if a substantial doubt develops as to the safety of the drug, the Food and Drug Administration and all physician-investigators using the drug be notified immediately. If necessary, the use could be halted by FDA.

Current regulations have no such provisions.

The secretary said interested persons will have 60 days in which to comment on the proposed regulations and final regulations will

Rival Army Chiefs In Argentina Vie For Power Control

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rival army leaders engaged today in a new struggle for leadership of the nation's ground forces and the commanding voice in President Jose Maria Guido's military-dominated regime.

A rumored intra-army feud broke into the open Wednesday when dissident commanders rebelled at the leadership of Gen. Juan Bautista Loza, war minister and army commander in chief.

Loza quit both posts Wednesday night, and the dissidents said they were satisfied the crisis would not erupt into open conflict. The roots of the crisis—deeply divergent views within the army on the future course of the nation—remained.

Defense Minister Jose Luis Cantilo took over temporary command of the war ministry and summoned top army commanders to a conciliation meeting today.

Each of the several army factions was expected to press Cantilo to name a commander in chief from among its ranks. Several army generals already were resentful that Cantilo, a civilian, had taken over the war ministry, even temporarily.

The navy and air force remained on the sidelines, rejecting overtures from the rival army groups.

Army troops occupied power plants, radio stations and other key points in the Buenos Aires area to prevent disturbances.

The wobbly Argentine peso tumbled again under the day's uncertainty, and Economy Minister Alvaro Carlos Alsogaray expressed deep concern for the effect the army conflict might have on his drive to get Argentina's stagnant economy moving again.

The army crisis stems from the military's ouster of President Arturo Frondizi last April and the subsequent forcible recess of Congress and annulment of the March elections in which followers of ex-Dictator Juan D. Peron scored sweeping victories.

The move split the army into several factions. One opposed the move altogether as unconstitutional. Another endorsed the hard line against the Peronists but pressed for an early return to constitutional rule. Still another urged an outright military seizure of power.

Work Progresses On Bliss Company's Plant Addition Here

This steel framework outlines the E. W. Bliss Company's new machine shop building being constructed on the site of the old Buckeye Engine Shop on S. Broadway. Work on the new structure is scheduled for completion in October. The new building replaces one of the early Buckeye Engine Company shops built in 1852, then rebuilt after a fire in 1865. The plant was used in the development of the Buckeye steam engine, first used in saw mills, and later extended to all classes of industry. Bliss purchased the Buckeye Engine Company in 1920. The 50 x 175-foot shop will be one-story of brick and steel construction. It will house machine tools such as gear cutters and boring mills, and will be classified as a "medium" machine shop, complementing "heavy" and "light" machine shops now operating at the Bliss plant.

Bliss' Heavy Equipment Division plant in Salem produces rolling mills and allied equipment, metalworking presses, and lathes.

British Press Slaps Official Questions Insistence On Soblen's Return

LONDON (AP)—The British government came under mounting fire from its home press today as the deadlock continued over the fate of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, the runaway spy.

Several newspapers questioned Home Secretary Henry Brooke's insistence that the Israeli El Al Airline fly the psychiatrist back to the United States to serve a life sentence for spying for the Soviet Union.

The home office extended the deadline on its order to El Al to fly Soblen, 61, to New York from last midnight until midnight Friday. It also gave the airline the option of designating another line to act as its agent in transporting Soblen.

Pan American has said it would be willing to fly Soblen to New York under such an agreement. But El Al, acting on orders from the Israeli government, insisted that if Britain hands over Soblen, it will fly him to Israel.

"We have no intention of accepting his return," a spokesman said.

AFL-CIO, Teamsters May Clash

Union Membership Battle Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP)—An AFL-CIO leader, whose union is an organizing target of the rival Teamsters Union, said today it is time all AFL-CIO unions combined in an open membership war against the teamsters.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, said he plans to propose at the quarterly meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council beginning Monday in Chicago the formation by the federation of a Teamsters organizing committee.

Beirne said Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has been directing membership raids against a number of AFL-CIO unions, including the machinists as well as the communications workers.

"We can't wait any more for him to chip away at us," Beirne told a reporter. "It's time we took on Hoffa and made no bones about it. Up to now we've just waited for Teamsters groups to come to us. Not many have come."

U.S. Believes Soviet People Know of Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities said today they believe that despite Kremlin secrecy, millions of Soviets know their government has resumed nuclear testing.

The authorities based their views in part on Western efforts to get word of the tests through the iron curtain.

But many Soviets would know about the tests anyway, regardless of Moscow's refusal to announce officially the nuclear explosions so far.

The Voice of America, the U.S. government short-wave radio, figures that more than 10 million of the 220 million Soviets tune in on its broadcasts. The Voice featured the Soviet resumption of testing as a lead news item for nearly three days after the huge Novaya Zemlya high altitude blast last Sunday.

The Soviets have been jamming those portions of the Voice's Russian language newscasts reporting the Soviet tests, but Voice officials say the U.S. signal can still get through to much of the Soviet Union despite the deliberate radio interference. And the Soviets do not jam the Voice's English-language programs, which give the news, too.

In addition, the word is beamed at the Soviet Union by Radio Liberty, the British Broadcasting Corp., and others. Visitors also bring in news.

A large number of Soviet civilians also must have witnessed the atomic testing, since it has been seen in neighboring Norway.

Still unexplained is why the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission delayed for days its announcement of the new Soviet test resumption.

Britain Reports U.S. Nazi Chief Gives Hitler Salute Upon Boarding Plane

LONDON (AP)—American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell gave a Hitler salute today as Britain deported him to the United States.

Bareheaded and wearing a brown suede jacket and sun glasses the fuhrer of the American Nazi party was escorted by Scotland Yard detectives to the steps of a Pan American jetliner bound for Boston.

Shortly before takeoff time, several persons with muffled voices called the airport to say bombs were aboard the plane.

"I advise you to search that plane," said one, "or Rockwell is going to have an unpleasant surprise."

The bomb threat delayed the plane's departure only 12 minutes. "They appeared to be cranks," said a Pan American spokesman of the callers.

A quick check was made of the plane but no trace of a bomb was found. The airliner had been under guard since it arrived early this morning.

He was seated in the economy section of the plane, ahead of the other 38 passengers. The Home Office said he paid for his own ticket, which cost $270.06.

Rockwell was arrested Wednesday night in London after a nationwide hunt.

He slipped into England by way of Ireland and spoke last weekend at a Nazi camp in the Cotswold Hills. The government, perturbed at mob attacks on recent fascist meetings, issued a deportation order for him, but by then he had disappeared.

A telephone call to Scotland Yard Wednesday night sent four detectives racing to a street corner in the heart of London.

Rockwell was taken into custody as he stepped from a car.

Sen. Kefauver, Morse Hint At Filibuster

Indicate Plan's Opponents Won't Yield to Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh attacks by Sens. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., raised the threat today of another Senate filibuster against the communications satellite bill.

They spoke out as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled sessions to consider amendments tightening the bill's foreign policy controls before reporting the measure back to the Senate on Friday for resumption of formal debate.

In a prepared Senate speech that appeared to be a day-early curtain raiser for another round of extended debate—interrupted last week by referral of the bill to the committee—Kefauver assailed nongovernment ownership of the proposed satellite system and said he and colleagues would discuss the measure at some length after the committee reports.

Morse told newsmen opponents will not settle for anything less than a government-owned satellite system operated by communications firms under contract or lease arrangements with the government.

He said amendments the Foreign Relations Committee might bring out would amount only to "window dressing."

Mr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the committee Tuesday that Congress must act now to assure U.S. leadership in the creation of a global satellite system since it will take two or three years to get it into operation.

Kefauver said an operational system using either the low-orbit or the high-orbit satellites on which experiments are under way "is still at least a few years away."

The President, he said, "should have the authority to determine which system will be put into operation in the first instance and the authority to require adoption

Blood Donor Enlistment Here Lagging

Only 20 persons have registered for the regional bloodmobile visit to Salem next Wednesday. One hundred and fifty seven more donors are needed if Salem is to reach its 125-pint quota.

L. J. Raymond, chairman North Columbiana County Red Cross blood program, urges co-workers to make every effort to report immediately their donors registrations to the Red Cross office.

The bloodmobile will be stationed at St. Paul School from 12 to 6 p.m. This visit is sponsored by St. Paul's Church and the women of the parish will provide the food and staff the canteen.

Miss Carmen McNicol is general church recruitment chairman and Michael Schuller is general industrial recruitment chairman. Mrs. Oliver Davis and Ors. A. J. Sanders are co-chairmen for general residential recruitment.

Dr. Lea Cobbs, Dr. William A. Kolozsi and Dr. Carl Weidmeyer will be the physicians on duty.

The chairman expressed the hope that the community could again exceed its 125-pint quota as done last August when 147 pints were collected.

New Slapstick Comedy Show To Make Debut

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A new comedy series about a pair of accident-prone carpenters will make its debut next month on ABC because a student of laughter believes slapstick is due for a revival.

Producer Leonard Stern, who has served under such generals as Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen and Phil Silvers, finds that comedy moves in a broad cycle.

"And big comedy—broad comedy—abdicated about three or four years ago," he remarked, blandly ignoring last season's slapstick disaster called "Oh, Those Bells."

His forthcoming "I'm Dickens He's Fenster" will frankly go after those big, unrestrained guffaws after a period of concentrating on more sophisticated humor, which Stern calls pallid because it elicits at best an amused chuckle.

"But with all the television they see, audiences won't accept a comic who comes out and trips for no reason or slides on a banana peel," said Stern. "We're going after the big laugh, but we're going to motivate it logically."

His main characters are skilled craftsmen. After all, there's no sense in outraging the nation's building tradesmen. Those boffo situations emerge in each weekly episode because one character is a worrier, and his mishaps are psychosomatic. That way it becomes a personality defect and no reflection on an industry or trade.

Stern apparently has been doing some practical observing. He has teamed up in the starring roles a stand-up comic named Marty Ingels with an all-around actor with a flair for comedy roles named John Astin. That formula worked out very well last season with "Car 54," which matched up comic Joe E. Ross and actor Fred Gwynne. It wasn't too bad, either, when Jackie Gleason and Art Carney did "The Honeymooners."

Eddie Cantor's Wife Dies of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ida Cantor, wife of comedian Eddie Cantor and the one for whom he sang his song "Ida" for many years, died of a heart attack in her sleep Wednesday. She was 70.

Cantor, also 70, suffering from a heart ailment himself for several years, collapsed in a state of shock when his wife was pronounced dead. He was placed under sedation in their Beverly Hills home. A nurse remained at his bedside.

The couple, childhood sweethearts on the streets of New York, married 48 years ago while Cantor was a struggling vaudeville comedian.

They had five daughters who with Mrs. Cantor figured prominently in much of the banjo-eyed comedian's humor. The eldest daughter, Marjorie, died of cancer in 1959.

Mrs. Cantor died in the family home where she had been suffering for some time with a heart ailment.

Her maiden name was Ida Tobias. Her father tried to get Cantor to quit show business and to go into the clothing business with him.

But the orphaned Cantor's widowed grandmother, Esther Cantor, put her foot down. Being a comedian, she said, was just as important as selling suits.

Cantor has been largely retired in recent years, spending his time writing books and articles reminiscing on his long career.

Survivors in addition to Cantor include the four daughters, Natalia, Edna, Marilyn, Janet and five grandchildren.

The woman who became known to millions as "Ida, sweet as apple cider, traveled thousands of miles with Cantor on his personal appearance tours.

She suffered a heart attack eight years ago while in Miami, Fla., for a Cantor benefit performance. She had a second heart attack four years ago and spent three months in a hospital in Los Angeles.

Club Files Appeal Of Court Decision

LISBON — The Veterans Social Club and Sam Johnson of 1044 Pennsylvania Ave. East Liverpool, filed notice Wednesday that it is appealing Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp's probation and curfew, given last Friday, after the judge declared the club a "public nuisance."

A bond of $1,000 was posted but Judge Sharp called Johnson up to the bench and told him this bond would not alter his closing hours pending a ruling on his appeal for a new trial.

Judge Sharp last week, after hearing testimony on the case, placed the club on probation.

The club authorities late Friday advised the court that it could not make police arrangements with East Liverpool authorities so Judge Sharp then ordered the club placed on a curfew of 10 p.m. during the weekdays and midnight on Friday and Saturday nights.

Judge Sharp then lowered the bond for appeal of his ruling to $1,000 but warned the owner that his curfew still stands, pending his ruling on their motion for a new trial.

Bees Drive Firemen From Burning House

BUDD LAKE, N.J. (AP)—Firemen dashed into a burning farmhouse Tuesday night—and dashed back out again.

A swarm of bees, angered by smoke and flames, routed the firemen.

"They were going down our necks, through our coats and into our trousers," said Fire Chief George D. Smith. About 20 firemen were stung.

The chief said the bees apparently had built a hive in the unoccupied building. The fire burned out the interior of the house.

Plaque on Star's Crypt Reads: Marilyn Monroe 1926-1962

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Marilyn Monroe 1926-1962." The plate on the crypt reads simply, but it tells little of a Hollywood legend—or of her funeral, unique for such a personality.

For instance, there was former baseball great, Joe DiMaggio who married the sex goddess — the second of her three husbands.

Before Marilyn, who was found dead in bed Sunday from an overdose of sleeping pills, went to her final resting place Wednesday, the famed New York Yankee slugger bent over her coffin.

Tearfully, he kissed her and poured out from his heart: "I love you. I love you. I love you."

It was out of character for the reticent DiMaggio, but perhaps that made it all the more sincere.

Later he drove through Westwood Memorial Park, stopped once more at her crypt and then drove on.

Then there were the fans. During the simple, non-denominational rites they were orderly, dignified, even sentimental.

But as soon as the funeral was over, a couple hundred of them climbed over a concrete wall, trampled the grass and flowers around the crypt that entombed the movie queen.

When the fans departed, most of the flowers went with them.

Then there were the Hollywood stars who weren't invited to the funeral.

Miss Monroe's one-time publicity representative said of the 31 invited guests: "About half of the people in there would not even be there if Marilyn had had anything to do with the invitations—and a lot more of her friends would have been there."

Among these would have been actor Peter Lawford and his wife Pat, brother-in-law and sister of President Kennedy. When Mrs. Lawford heard of Marilyn's death, she flew from the summer White House at Hyannis Port, Mass., to attend the funeral.

But when she got here she found that neither she nor Peter was invited.

Marilyn's half sister, Bernice Maracle, and DiMaggio handled the guest list. No movie stars were invited — and none showed up.

Those in charge of the arrangements explained that if they invited one star, they would have to invite many, and to have a big crowd would mean a circus-like funeral.

Public Response Good In Ohio, Rest of U.S.

Extension Centers Popular

If local and area residents show sufficient interest by enrolling in the proposed Kent State University Extension Center here this fall, Salem will join the rapidly growing number of communities establishing these educational centers.

Acceptance of university extension in Ohio and the country is revealed in enrollment increases. During 1960-61 more than 10,000 persons were enrolled at 29 state university extension centers in the state, and nationwide enrollment at extension centers totaled nearly 3,000,000.

Whether the Kent State University Board of Trustees approves the opening of a center here this fall depends upon a sufficient number of persons registering for courses, school officials point out.

ADVANCED REGISTRATION at the Senior High School building will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 28, and Thursday, Aug. 30, from 1 to 8 p.m. During these two days, counseling service will be available prior to registration.

Advanced registration is urged to assure obtaining a faculty for proposed classes and to insure students getting the classes they want. Final registration will be held Monday, Sept. 10, with classes to begin Sept. 19. Kent State University officials say that favorable response to the "branch system" of extension centers in Ohio probably has occurred, in part, because of the following advantages of the system:

1. At little or no cost to the state they relieve campus shortages of classrooms, housing and teachers.
2. Local students are served who would be unable to afford soaring on-campus costs.
3. A tried and proven program can be offered, ready to expand immediately to meet needs of the typical college age population. From the beginning a quality program is assured through academic accreditation and university organization and supervision. Transfer credit is available.
4. Since the centers are established on an invitational basis, the communities are free to experiment to determine local needs for a college, technical or terminal program under guidance of qualified personnel.

Local Needs Served
5. Community committees have a voice in the types of program offerings they want, thus keeping the program responsive to local needs.

6. Centers are easily established or discontinued without vast initial administrative problems or financial commitments.

7. The prestige of the university is a fringe benefit.

8. Community people gain valuable experience in directing and advising a decentralized higher educational institution in event that the branch would be changed to a community college or similar institution.

9. Special classes and services from the resources of the university are readily available to meet local needs.

Keep a Diary

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Do you yearn to win lasting fame and the gratitude of future generations? Well, you can hardly do it by piling up wealth.

You could do it by writing a perfect poem or song, but that is far harder than making $100 million. The luminous gift of imaginative creation is denied to all but those of genius.

But there is a simple available way for you to earn a place in history. That is—to keep an honest, detailed diary throughout your life, and leave it in your will to some university library.

A hundred years from now, some historian seeking to find out what life was really like in the mid-20th century, will stumble on that diary in some dusty stack. Opening and reading it, he will call your name blessed.

This has been called the "Age of Anxiety" and the "Age of Crisis." But it may finally go down in history as the "Age of the By-stander," a period when people were so busy watching the exciting spectacle of life—or were so numbed by what they saw—that few bothered to put down how the felt about it all.

Later historians will find no lack of material to study about this generation. There will be tons and tons of official papers to peer through.

The chronology of wars and diplomatic conferences makes up only the dry bones of human history. It is like learning about extinct animals by studying their fossils.

The only way to make human history really human is to find out how the individual person reacted to existence. What stirred him to dream, what caused him to despair? What did he really think about himself and others while he lived?

In the past men were more eloquent about themselves. Our ancestors were more frank about their reaction to life. They kept diaries; they wrote long letters and did not hesitate to speak freely what they thought and felt.

Such outspoken documents as the diary of Samuel Pepys, or the letters between John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, illuminate their times in a way no treatise or proclamations can.

Today we seem to be losing the ability to write as well as to walk. We celebrate our anniversaries by sending each other cheap comic greeting cards bearing a rented wisecrack.

Few of us bother to record in any permanent way problems of our hearts and minds—as if we were ashamed to show our private feelings. We run the risk of having future generations decide we actually had no feelings, and stalked dumbly through our time on earth like stumbling zombies.

So, why not keep a diary? It'll help you find out yourself what kind of person you are while alive—and it could make you famous after you're gone. It might make you more important later than you feel you are now, and isn't that worth a gamble?

Farm Bureau Tour Begins

A closer look at the Common Market will be one of the major objectives of the 26 farm men and women who left today on a Scandinavian tour sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Wendell Weller of Urbana, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, is leading the tour which will visit England, Norway, France and return to New York City Aug. 30.

"Ohio farmers are deeply concerned about the impact the Common Market will have on Ohio agriculture," Weller said. "We plan to confer with farm and co-operative leaders in all of the countries we visit."

Grassland Field Day

The National Grassland Field Day is scheduled Aug. 15 through 17 at Hershey Farms, Hershey, Pa.

The program will include a variety of events including machinery exhibits, tours, machinery demonstrations, speaker sessions and forage variety plots.

Hershey Farms consist of 90 individual units, with 10,000 acres and has about 1,000 dairy cows besides other farm livestock.

Farm Costs Climb

Glen J. Vollmar, Ohio State University extension economist, reports that farm production costs today are nearly four times as high as they were in 1940.

He said studies show about 70 per cent of a farmer's gross income went to pay for production costs in 1961, compared with about 50 per cent in 1940.

In 1940, U. S. farmers spent $1.75 on machinery and buildings for every dollar spent for hired help. By 1960 the ratio had risen to 2.77 to 1, Vollmar said.

An ounce of whiskey contains about 75 calories — about the same as a large slice of bread, four and a half teaspoons of sugar or one and a half pats of butter.

No One Opposes Survival

"There is only one way to end wars between nations: that is to merge them into one."

This was one of two thoughts behind the movement now known as the European Common Market. The other was this: "Energy plus coke plus iron ore equals steel."

The scene was Luxembourg City. The time was Aug. 10, 1952. The name was European Coal and Steel Community. The author was Jean Monnet, who shared the credit with Robert Schuman, a former prime minister of France. To honor him, the project was called the Schuman Plan. That was the beginning of the European Common Market.

The groundwork had been prepared in 1951 in Paris. The treaty creating the Coal and Steel Community carried a clause making it possible for any European nation to join the six charter members — France, Germany, Italy and Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

THE CLAUSE was aimed then as is the European Common Market today at Great Britain. But now as then the British are having trouble reconciling their Commonwealth policies with the policies they would have to obey if they joined the Common Market.

These are essentially the same problems the United States is confronted with as the Common Market picks up momentum—how to adjust present practices to changes that inevitably are going to come about in the near future. Why "inevitably"?

Because Western Europe will be able to produce 167 million tons of steel by 1965. The Common Market area alone will produce upward of 110 million tons. Inclusion of Britain would unite an area which turned out about 103 million tons of steel last year, or some 5 million more tons than was produced in the United States. Steel is the backbone of modern industry.

M. MONNET, the French genius who has brought together this potential capacity and is looking forward to the ultimate unity of political structures as well as industrial structures, calls the Common Market the "greatest revolution Europe has known—a liberation from its past."

The magnitude of the project and its growth in the first 10 years make it impossible for any nation on the outside to remain unaffected by the consequences.

Just as in the U.S. Congress the expected opposition to revision of trade policy vanished in the presence of a new great fact, opposition in Britain is crumbling and sagging. No politician can afford to be accused of opposing national survival.

Chung-Pow to Be Heard From

The vital difference between Soviet nuclear testing and American testing is that all Americans know about both and most Russians know about neither.

If ignorance is bliss in a war of nerves, Russians are feeling all the bliss and Americans are feeling all the pressure. Now the Russians are at it again — testing, testing, testing, while American tests are temporarily suspended, having ended on a sour note of failure when rocket carriers for high-altitude explosions over the Pacific blew up short of their destinations.

Once more the Russians have the edge in a skirmish of the war of nerves. But before giving them credit for doing this sort of thing better than we're likely to do it even with a generation or two of practice, we can guess they are undergoing official stresses as harrowing as anything happening to nervous Americans.

They live in nervous anticipation of a nuclear explosion that will not occur under either American or Russian auspices; nor under British or French auspices either.

They swallow hard when they realize the real danger of this international game of "chicken" that nuclear explorers are playing is the possibility an outsider's muscling in without advance notice.

This is like the Old West when newcomers began to wear guns just like the old-timers and shoot them in the air—testing, testing, while American tests are temporarily suspended, having ended on a sour note of failure when rocket carriers for high-altitude explosions over the Pacific blew up short of their destinations.

The greenhorn would have a name like Chung-Pow and he would be the spokesman for the nuclear blasting division of the Department of International Extermination, Peiping, People's Republic of China.

On the day he makes his announcement—the day the Atomic Club finds it has an Asiatic intruder to deal with—the frightened will become the frightened.

They might even consent to mutual control in the frantic hope of persuading the Chinese to do the same.

The Experiment Was a Success

Britain's War Office will tell no more than necessary about the germ warfare research officer whose death from pneumonic plague has terrified many Britons and given all men alive something to think about.

It isn't necessary to tell much to reveal that whatever experiment was under way was a chilling success, though not in the way intended.

Potential enemies of Britain know its germ warfare specialists have developed a strain of pneumonic plague virulent enough to kill on contact.

They know germ warfare is being given close attention by the methodical British, which will be the signal for them to give it even closer attention than they have been giving it heretofore. No one has matched Britain in weapons development—from the long bow to the supersonic jet bomber.

There will be a hustle-bustle of Ban the Bomb pickets to get to Porton Down in Wiltshire, where the germ warfare research is being carried on, so they can march up and down and have their pictures taken.

Earnest men and women who trust in the efficacy of prayer to guide the minds of potential attackers who don't believe in praying will redouble their efforts to invoke, supernatural intercession to save mankind from itself.

Mankind never was in a better position to be saved. It knows beyond all doubt that it can destroy itself, if not with nuclear explosion and radioactive poisoning, then with fire storms and mass hysteria and if not that way with germ warfare that will make no distinction between friend and foe but will kill each and every one alike.

Peace is wonderful when the alternative is mass extermination.

Don't blow up when a tire does. The opinions of those with you may be much harder to change.

Summertime

By Truman Twill

We used to shove the lawnmower under the back porch when August came. There never was anything left to mow, except in a few places under the apple tree, and they were too littered with windfalls to be worth mowing.

We didn't bother to pull weeds any more either, because it had been so long since the last shower, which didn't amount to anything, that even pig ears were curled up and brittle. The only thing still growing was buckhorn, and the lawn mower was useless for buckhorn; it had to be sickled down.

Old-timers used to keep thermometers in the shade so they couldn't be charged with fibbing when they said it was "90 in the shade." They also kept a wind harp hanging at the open end of the porch so its tinkling would give them a chance to talk about the "breeze" while they rocked and fanned and drank home-made root beer and listened to the locusts in the maple trees.

When things got real bad and the old-timers got to swapping recollections about other times when it may have been almost as hot or maybe a mite hotter, someone would suggest a freezerfull of sherbet and the next question would be ice because the ice wagon didn't come till 11 the next morning. Finally, it would be decided to take half the ice out of the refrigerator for the sherbet and not worry about keeping things cold because the milk already had started to turn, the watermelon would all be eaten by bedtime anyway and the butter already was rancid.

It was all right for young people to sleep wherever they thought they could be cool, even to spreading a blanket in the back yard if they thought they could stand the bugs. The best place was the glider on the front porch, if you didn't mind the squeak-squawk every time you took a breath. Along about that time they began to sell attachments to give yourself a home-made shower bath in the bathtub—a rubber hose with a nozzle that worked all right if you could take a shower sitting down because shower rings and curtains were to come later and the water had to be kept inside the tub.

These contraptions helped to cool things off in the evenings after a 9½ or 10-hour day working in August heat. In that era there was a premium on ways to cool off. People arranged temporary living quarters in the basements of their houses, and anyone who claimed to be anybody had a cottage at the "lake."

A great advance was made in underwear—the B.V.D. for men. Women still had to get along with "Porous Knit," which had little holes in it for the circulation of air.

Undertakers provided palm-leaf fans printed with their names and the nature of their services. These were very big in church.

The ice cream parlors always had those air beaters, that looked like airplane propellers. But in general, what with one thing and another, including clothing that was too heavy and an over-all lack of ventilation it used to be so doggone hot in August, everybody died of the heat in August.

People crept around on the shady side of the street fanning themselves with their hats and asking breathlessly, "Is it hot enough for you?" Or they smiled wanly and said it would be nice of some of the heat could be bottled for next winter.

"It can't seem to rain somehow, can it?" they would ask, then saunter back home, still keeping in the shade, and hoist a bottle of whatever was cooling at the end of a stout cord in the cistern.

Come to think about it, the weather used to be as sultry in August as it is now; maybe things are going from bad to worse.

"There's a Slight Hole in the Cheering Section!"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ISTANBUL Europe's best kept secret is the answer to the Chinese puzzle in Albania.

That rocky little land is the Communist Oriental beachhead in Europe. But so tight is the security that little leaks out — except the blood and tears and sometimes the screams of the few who attempt to escape by land or water. Albania's harbors are constantly flooded at night. So are its death-strip borders. While in Greece I did hear of rather gory concentration camps in Nazi Stalag style. Dissenters are sent to such barbed wire encampments to skeletonize and die. There is one such camp at Koroka, Albania.

There the military police simply shot down 20 political prisoners who protested the shortening of food rations, the constant beating by prison guards and ghastly inhuman overwork on schedules created to kill the inmates.

News of this is permitted to leak on the theory that terror will paralyze the tongue. In Albania there is no freedom from surveillance. Not even in the foreign embassies.

HERE IN TURKEY I heard of the Turkish ambassador's experience. Not too long ago he was attempting to brief a few visiting Turkish newsmen he had managed to get into the capital of Albania. He spoke to the group huddled around him in the embassy.

He whispered to the microphones concealed in the police secret could not pick up his words, but the counter-intelligence in the form of maids kept coming in to dust.

Finally he had to order the maids to stop coming into his private office. The Turkish ambassador told his countrymen that during other private conversations, windows would smash suddenly. Glaziers appeared in the office miraculously to fix the panes during confidential conversations.

Still other such conferences were interrupted by plumbers who came when faucets suddenly opened and began flooding the sink or the toilet bowl and the nearby water closet began running over mysteriously. Otherwise you could not get a glazier or a plumber to fix something until the end of the fourth five-year plan.

Why all this secrecy and counter-intelligence? Because the Albanians want to know just how much the non-Communist lands know of the Chinese Communist infiltration into Europe — which is the base for infiltration of Africa and Latin America via Cuba.

WE DO KNOW that the Chinese technicians have replaced the know-how of the Russian and European specialists almost completely since last Aug. 31.

We do know that the Peiping government has been sending Albania considerable tonnage of the wheat the Chinese Communists have been getting from Canada. And most recently from Australia.

We do know that the Mao Tse-tung government has been making a juicy profit of some 40 per cent on these transactions.

The Albanians get the foreign exchange by selling their own produce to the rest of the world via Swiss financiers and produce operators. Thus it can pay a high price in hard cash to the Chinese Communists for wheat which Peiping denies its own people — who are dying of malnutrition by the tens of thousands and simply dropping dead of hunger.

This creates a desperate moral problem for the U.S. It is reported in diplomatic circles here that we plan to feed millions of Chinese if the Peiping leaders ask us.

If we do this, what guarantee do we have that our wheat and surplus foodstuffs won't be used to finance Communist Chinese operations against us on three continents — Europe, Africa and Latin America.

IT IS THE FEELING in many sophisticated circles that American supervision must go with the supplies of food inside Communist mainland China. Otherwise the Communist Chinese will simply turn much of it into cash — either by selling our wheat directly, or using our wheat and food internally and exporting their own crops instead of using all available tonnage to feed their hundreds of millions of people.

When, for example, the Russians stopped aiding Albania almost exactly a year ago, the Peiping government moved in with a guarantee of credits to Albanian dictator Hoxha — a guarantee of some $125 million. Where do the bankrupt Communist Chinese leaders get this money? Why don't they use it to feed their own people?

Obviously the Mao government is giving its international apparatus high priority. Obviously it is using its secret Albanian beachhead as the jumping off point for Africa where there are now scores of small Chinese communities filled with Chinese technicians, intelligence men, organizers, and their families.

It will come as a surprise that these Chinese Communist communities reach not only from Tirana to Conakry, Guinea, but across the South Atlantic into scores of Latin American cities.

We have not yet trained the skilled manpower needed to study this development south of our own border.

But let it be known from now on, that the Chinese Communists have their eyes on more mainlands than their own.

Swatting Mr. Ferry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Fighting Communism Is Not Nonsense

Is there a faction in the Democratic party today which considers the fight against communism in the United States just a lot of nonsense?

If there is a tendency in that direction, it is quite possible that the Democratic party itself will be again in charge of being "soft on David Lawrence communism" which led in part to its defeat in the 1952 presidential and congressional elections.

It seems strange that the 13-state conference of western Democrats at Seattle should have given its time to listen to a speech by W. H. Ferry, vice president of the Fund for the Republic, denouncing as ineffective "spy-swatting" the efforts of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in fighting communism.

Mr. Ferry apparently differs with Attorney General Robert Kennedy in appraising the significance of the activities of the communists in this country. The attorney general has repeatedly said in public speeches that communist subversives cannot be ignored.

Mr. Ferry said in one part of his speech:

"No one cares to have spies and saboteurs percolating through the republic, and if the FBI is not up to finding and prosecuting them, let us set up an agency that can."

MR. FERRY talks as if all the FBI has to do to get rid of persons suspected of communist activities is to arrest them and that they will then be convicted and put in jail without much difficulty.

The truth is that communist agents are not only subtle and skillful in their methods, but they know American laws very well and have the benefit of resourceful lawyers who manage to keep them out of jail.

The Supreme Court has been of no little assistance on many occasions, with rulings that communism is just a kind of belief and that freedom of speech should protect those accused of furthering the communist cause in public. It's difficult to prosecute — and even for congressional and state legislative committees to investigate — when the arm the law is thus weakened.

This means the cooperation of the American people is most essential. One of the most effective ways to combat communism is to educate the people concerning the insidious methods used to influence them through the press, radio, church school systems, educational facilities and labor unions. It is conceded that the number of communists is small but that many innocent people have been duped and misled by the real communist agents.

THE PROBLEM remains. It takes only one Klaus Fuchs to steal atomic secrets. The British government gave clearance to Fuchs when he came to the United States to work on the atomic bomb project, and this was accepted by the American government. Eventually, however, it was found that Fuchs conspired with others and gave information to the communists that accelerated the time when the Soviet Union was capable of developing atomic weapons.

For the last two weeks, newspapers have been publishing the story of Robert Soblen, who escaped from this country even though he was under $100,000 bail.

He was a convicted spy sentenced to life imprisonment. But the FBI is powerless when a man is granted bail who never should have been given even temporary freedom. The FBI doesn't control the courts.

Mr. Ferry has been a controversial figure and has taken an active part in belittling the communist menace in this country. No long ago, he tried to combat the efforts of the New Hampshire legislative committee which investigated alleged communist infiltration into institutions.

In his address before the 13-state Democratic party conference he seemed to level his attack particularly at J. Edgar Hoover. This is not a new tactic. For many years, many persons have been trying to damage the prestige of the head of the FBI but have not succeeded. Mr. Ferry said:

"Then Mr. Hoover warns against Soviet espionage in the U.S. This is an old line of the FBI chief, and its success year after year is a tribute to the brains into which sermons throw Americans, not excepting congressmen."

"Mr. Hoover is, after all, our official spyswatter. In these persistent reports about espionage and sabotage, is he delicately telling us that he isn't up to the job, that red spies are running loose despite his best efforts? If, in fact, we are infested with these rascals, as Mr. Hoover intimates, if might occur to many people that the country needs a more efficient spy-swatter."

NOT CONTENT with his blows at the FBI and its efforts to ferret out communist subversives, Mr. Ferry aimed a few swipes at American business and industry. He took issue with those who have suggested that President Kennedy now is trying to "woo" American business.

Mr. Ferry said: "Industry should not be wooed, but watched, and tolerated and reined in when it gets out of line. . . . They (the corporations) are not there to be loved but to be used."

Mr. Ferry, as vice president of the Fund for the Republic, has a lot to say nowadays about how the money accumulated by the late Henry Ford should be spent.

Mr. Ford was probably the best example of how one man can build up an individual enterprise that this country has ever seen. He might never have made the success he did if American business had been regulated to the extent that it is today.

It's strange how often the funds bequeathed by men who are pilloried as "big business" are used by so-called "liberals" to create antagonisms against business as an institution.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — The resignation of Mrs. Mary Ann Vandenberg, Salem health nurse for the last five years, became effective today.

35 YEARS AGO — Mayor George E. Russell, Republican, and Phil G. Hiddleston, Democrat, will fight it out for mayor at the general election in November as the result of the primary election Tuesday.

Matter of Fact

Ever look at the meat counter at the supermarket and wonder why one type of meat is so much redder than another? For example, why is beef darker than pork? The color of meat is due to the amount of hemoglobin in different animals. Cows have a greater amount of hemoglobin than pigs do.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am in sympathy with "In Sympathy." She was the long-suffering physician's wife who wrote to say her husband had to give up going to church on Sunday because he was constantly pestered by people who wanted curbside opinions at free medical advice.

A dear friend of mine solved this problem in this manner:

The town bore who was notorious for chiseling everything and anything, collared this good-natured doctor at a cocktail party. She pulled him into a corner and began to describe in detail the shooting pains in her hip and leg.

The doctor looked her square in the eye, and in his most professional way said, "Undress."

That did it. The woman has never gone near him since.—WANDERING TEXAN.

Dear Texan: I'm glad it worked for him but I wouldn't recommend this technique for everyone. Some women would be only too happy to take him at his word!

Irked by Mimic

Dear Ann: What do you think about a man getting up at a party and doing an imitation of the President of the United States?

He messed up his hair and pinned his suitcoat in the back so it would fit tight. He folded up his pants cuffs so they'd be short. Then he began to speak with an exaggerated Eastern accent, emphasizing such words as Democratic "pah-ty," "Oober and "Afriker." Everyone was in stitches.

I felt it was in bad taste and not the least bit funny. After all, the presidency is the highest office of the land, and every American should have respect for the office. When I didn't laugh along with the others I was told that I lack a sense of humor. What is your opinion?—D.L.

Dear D.L.: One of the hallmarks of a healthy democracy is that we can poke fun at the highest office of the land and not be afraid of a knock at the door.

The Roosevelts were probably the most imitated Americans of the century because they were distinctive individuals. It is well known that the Roosevelts were vastly amused by these imitations. I'm sure President Kennedy would laugh loudest if he could see some of the imitations of himself.

Suspicious Fiancee

Dear Ann: I'm a young man who needs an unbiased opinion. The girl I'm in love with has some wonderful qualities. She wants to get married but I'm afraid of her suspicious nature.

Ruth came from a broken home. Her father cheated on her mother left and right. They were divorced. Her stepfather was a chaser, too. You can understand why she doesn't have much faith in men.

I'm not the cheating kind and have not even looked sideways at another girl since we became pinned last year. Yet she doesn't take my word for anything. She phones the bowling alley to make sure I'm there. She calls my apartment and asks my roommate if he knows where I am after I've told her exactly where I plan to be. She has phoned my parents' home (long distance) to make sure I didn't go somewhere else for the weekend.

Ruth is 22. Do you think she'll outgrow this or will she be this way forever? I don't think I could stand a wife who was always checking.—BRUCE

Dear Bruce: Understanding WHY she is like this helps but it's no cure. This girl needs professional help.

If she is reluctant to explore the problem with a specialist you would be wise to unwind the romance—or prepare for a life of hunting and checking.

Individuals who are suspicious without cause sometimes develop overactive imaginations. After a while they are unable to separate fact from fiction. Then it's too late.

Execution of 3 Ends Story of Mother's Love

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A triple execution in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Wednesday wrote the final chapter in a grotesque story of obsessive mother love.

Elizabeth (Ma) Duncan, 58, was executed for plotting and paying for the murder of her pregnant daughter-in-law four years ago so she could keep her youngest son to herself.

It was a futile killing. For Frank Duncan, now 33, married again.

Yet her love was reciprocated. Frank, with his present wife and law partner, Elinor Chandler Duncan, fought through the courts, trying to save her life, until two minutes before the execution.

But no tears were shed in San Quentin's little green-walled room when Ma Duncan died, shortly after 10 a.m., tight lipped and staring straight ahead into nothingness.

The tears came three hours later for one of the two small-time criminals who said Ma Duncan promised $6,000 and paid $360 for the November 1958 killing of Olga Duncan, 30, near Santa Barbara.

A half-brother wept when cyanide gas choked off the inaudible laughter of Augustine Baldonado, 28. Strapped beside Baldonado and talking with him was his fellow killer, Luis Moya, 23.

"It's all right," Baldonado had assured Daniel Ledesma, 35, of Port Hueneme, Calif., only moments before. But it didn't stop the tears.

Frank Duncan had met Olga Kupczyk, a Canadian-born nurse, when he took his mother to a Santa Barbara hospital suffering from an overdose of sedatives. They married June 24, 1958, against his mother's wishes.

Deaths, Funerals

Russell E. Bagley

Russell E. Bagley, 61, of 251 W. State St. died of complications at 12:45 a.m. today at the Central Clinic Hospital following a long illness.

Born in Pittsburgh, Dec. 25, 1901, he was the son of Joseph and Margaret Duetch Bagley. A retired coremaker of the Pittsburgh Foundry Company, he had been a resident of Salem since 1951. He married Lillian Lam-bright Dec. 8, 1919.

Besides his wife he is survived by four sons, Joseph, with the army stationed in Arkansas, Thomas of Lisbon, James and John of Salem; five daughters, Mrs. Margaret Nigro and Mrs. Betty Nigro of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Martha Turner of Cincinnati, Miss Sara Bagley of Youngstown, and Mrs. Linda Corfee of Malvern, Pa., and one brother, Ralph Bagley of Alliance; and 13 grandchildren. A daughter, Geraldine, and a son, Russell Jr., preceded him in death.

Services will be at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Stark Memorial with Rev. Harold Winn, pastor of First Friends Church, officiating. Burial will be in Alliance City Cemetery.

Friends may call Friday evening at the Memorial.

Coler Infant

NEW SPRINGFIELD — Private services will be held this afternoon at the Fry Funeral Home in Columbiana for the infant daughter of Loren and Ruth Ann Myers Coler of New Springfield, who died shortly after birth at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday at Youngstown North Side Hospital. Interment was in Lake Park Cemetery, Youngstown.

Beside the parents, survivors are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Myers of New Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Coler of North Lima, and great-grandfather William R. Jones of New Springfield.

The father is in the armed services in Korea.

Health Displays For County Fair Planned

LISBON — Voluntary health agencies in Columbiana County will again make displays for the health tent at the Columbiana County Fair to be held Aug. 21-25. The display is sponsored by the Columbiana County Medical Society and the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council. Any agencies interested should contact Mrs. Sybil Degnan, Leetonia RD 2, secretary-treasurer of the council.

Dickson 4th To File For Judgeship

An East Palestine attorney became the fifth candidate for county court judge when he filed with the county election board prior to the deadline Wednesday afternoon.

Atty. D. Barry Dickson filed for a four-year term to join Luther Donbar of Columbiana and Atty. Herbert E. Arfman of Leetonia, incumbent judges, and Atty. Edward C. Greenamyer, also of Leetonia, in the four-way fight for two seats.

Because two candidates will be elected for four-year terms and one for a two-year term, Dickson's filing for the long term assured Atty. James L. MacDonald of Lisbon RD 4, incumbent, of reelection. The former county prosecutor was the only candidate to file for the short term.

The candidates were required to list the term they sought in their nominating petitions.

Wellsville Proposal
Meanwhile, Mayor William Daugherty, Council President Mary Rahter and Councilman Dwight MacLean, the sponsoring committee, has asked the county election board for permission to withdraw an initiative petition it filed this week to force a vote on a bond issue to construct a Wellsville city hall.

In its letter, the committee noted Council has certified a $250,000 bond issue to the election board asking a vote at the Nov. 6 general election. The committee said the initiative petition would not serve any purpose.

City Auditor Edgar S. Davidson certified the initiative petition Monday and Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, Council Clerk, certified Council's resolution a few hours later.

3 Hurt As Sports Car Leaves Road

Two men from Hubbard and one from Youngstown were hurt at 3:10 this morning when the sports car in which they were riding ran off Rt. 7 and rolled over an embankment about a half-mile north of Rogers, the State Highway Patrol reports.

The driver, Charles S. Fentules, 22, of Youngstown, is in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with possible back and chest injuries and abrasions and lacerations of the hand.

His two passengers, Anthony Pasquale, 27, and Andy Gabrish, 17, both of Hubbard, were treated at the hospital and released. Pasquale received abrasions of the legs and bruised ribs. Gabrish suffered a contusion of the head.

The Patrol said Fentules was driving south on Rt. 7 when he came up over a hill and saw a road. Thinking that the truck was on the highway, Fentules swerved the sports car to the left. It slid off the left side of the road and rolled down an embankment.

The hearing ended with Elliott announcing: "At this moment, I'm not sure exactly when I will decide this case. It might be within a couple of days, within a week or within a month."

Elliott also said he could set no date for hearing suits by Negroes to enforce enforcement of segregation ordinances and to bar police interference with peaceful protests.

Chief defense counsel Constance Baker Motley of New York had urged Elliott to "give the utmost priority to hearing this case."

The Justice Department move brought a denunciation from city officials and praise from Negro leaders.

17,000 telephone installation workers employed by the Western Electric division of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Some 2,000 phone installers in nine Southern states have expressed preference for a switch to the Teamsters. Any formal shift of bargaining and union representation rights would be subject, however, to a nationwide vote of all the phone installers. This could not be held before November.

Beirne said he expects to fight back and expects the workers will ultimately vote to stay in the VWA. He conceded the outcome could be close, particularly since CWA installers in Phoenix, Ariz., have started an independent union move.

Beirne's union currently is holding a unique open trial here of 22 CWA installers local officials facing ouster on charges of disloyalty to their CWA union obligations by defecting to the Teamsters.

There has been testimony given that CWA local leaders were offered Teamsters jobs and that Hoffa had expressed willingness to spend up to $500,000 to finance campaign activities against the CWA.

Drug Control

not be issued until any comments have been considered.

The proposals followed a promise by Celebrezze last week that tighter regulations would come soon.

While the proposals are a direct outgrowth of the furor over thalidomide, Celebrezze did not mention that German-developed drug in his announcement.

The sedative never was cleared by FDA for general use in this country but the American licensee for its manufacture distributed the pills to 1,231 American doctors for possible experimental use before it was associated with the birth of deformed babies in Europe.

There have been no reports of malformed babies in this country from that investigational use, but there have been some cases of deformity in which the mothers had obtained the drug otherwise from abroad during pregnancy.

Present regulations, however, do not require either an initial notice to FDA of a clinical trial of a new drug or subsequent reports on such use.

Regulations would not require advance government approval of the preclinical investigation, the qualifications of the investigators, or the plan of the clinical investigation. The commissioner of food and drugs, now George P. Larrick, would be authorized, however, to terminate any investigation if use of the new requirements were not being met.

As to investigations of new drugs already under way, the proposed regulations would require prompt reporting to FDA of information showing that the investigation may be safely continued. Failure to submit such a report would automatically terminate the authority under which clinical investigations are now conducted.

President Kennedy has said "we ought to be tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use. He and the Food and Drug Administration take the position this could be done without further legislation.

However, Kennedy also has said full protection of consumers will require action by the Congress. This week Kennedy made several recommendations to the Senate Judiciary Committee for strengthening the drug industry control bill now in its hands.

Wednesday the committee decided to require that official or generic name of a drug be printed prominently on the label and in type at least half as large as the brand name.

The administration bill in the House goes further, meeting the Kennedy recommendation that the official name be printed in type as large as that used for the brand name and that it be given precedence in position.

Existing law requires only that official names of drugs appear with prominence and conspicuousness on the label.

President's Cabinet:
Bunch of Silent SamsBy JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Cabinet — compared with some of the more outspoken members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet—looks like a bunch of silent Sams.

Each President is free to handle his Cabinet as he wishes. Eisenhower gave his more status as an institution than Kennedy by meeting with it often. He even took it on television with him to talk to the nation.

Kennedy may meet with his Cabinet members individually. But he puts a great reliance on his White House brain trust. And no one in his Cabinet or brain trust has shared the spotlight with him, or tried to.

Almost from the moment he became Eisenhower's secretary of state in 1953, John Foster Dulles was a great force unto himself without hesitancy in making high policy pronouncements.

Not so with the present secretary, Dean Rusk, a rather self-effacing man who runs his job like an expert technician, leaving the big statements to Kennedy.

Dulles was in continual conflict with his critics. Rusk so far has had practically no critics and his only conflict seems limited to the Russians, and then only in a quietly professional way.

Nobody challenges the competency of Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon. But he has stayed out of the headlines so much so people probably could not say offhand who heads the Treasury Department.

But very early in the Eisenhower administration Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey became a dominant figure with little reluctance in stating policy, a very conservative one, which became the hallmark of Eisenhower's years.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, may be a symbol of the young-in-heart to many people. But he has operated a lot more quietly than Herbert Brownell, Eisenhower's attorney general.

The times and circumstances, though, were different for Dulles and Brownell. They took over at the peak of the McCarthy era and its hunt for Communists inside and outside government. It was a noisy time.

Still, they overheated some of their problems. Dulles, for example, was so anxious to pacify McCarthyites with State Department purges that he damaged morale there. And Brownell made some harsh attacks, some thought far too harsh, on the previous Truman administration.

The Kennedy men—from the President down—have done extremely little sniping at the Eisenhower administration.

The two presidents each lost one Cabinet member before they had been in office two years: Martin Durkin, Eisenhower's secretary of labor; and Abraham Ribicoff, Kennedy's secretary of health, education and welfare.

There was a big difference in their going. Angry Durkin, a former labor leader, accused Eisenhower aides of breaking an agreement to try to soften the Taft-Hartley Act.

Ribicoff, it has been said around Washington, was never close to Kennedy but the two men parted in good spirit because, Ribicoff said, he wanted to run for the Senate from Connecticut.

(While Durkin said little in his nine months with Eisenhower, the present secretary of labor, Arthur J. Goldberg, has also said little except in a factual way but by sheer work is an outstanding Cabinet member.)

Eisenhower and Kennedy each picked an automobile company president for his secretary of defense: Eisenhower—Charles Wilson of General Motors; Kennedy—Robert S. McNamara of Ford Motors.

Any similarity between the two secretaries ends there. Wilson, an extroverted and genial man who sometimes talked too much at the wrong time, bobbed in and out of hot water.

McNamara, the bookish but incisive type, avoids public pronouncements but, by hard work and brains, already is considered one of the best of all secretaries.

As for the other secretaries in both administrations: the Kennedy group has had less to say.

Keep Blueberries In Their Place

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"Why don't blueberries, mixed into cake and muffin batters, stay at a decent distance from each other? I never used to have all the berries fall to the bottom.

This summer we've heard this complaint from more than one cook. And we've had the same experience.

Our guess is that when fresh cultivated blueberries are used in batters, they sink to the bottom because nowadays they are larger and heavier than they once were.

In this method butter and sugar are "creamed" — this means to beat them together with an electric mixer or with the back of a slotted wooden spoon drawn firmly against the sides of the bowl, until the mixture is about the consistency of whipped cream. We suspect that this resemblance to whipped cream consistency is the reason the word "cream" first came to be used as a verb in the terminology for making butter-type cakes. But don't expect the texture of the creamed butter and sugar to be as smooth as whipped cream.

The vanilla is added during the creaming so it will permeate the butter and sugar which carry flavors well.

When the dry ingredients and liquid are added to the creamed mixture, begin and end with the former. In the following recipe stir in the dry ingredients and liquid with a spoon unless you are sure you can use your electric mixer without overbeating. If you do overmix, you'll end up with tunnels in your cake.

The sugar-cinnamon mixture strewn over the top of this coffee-cake batter won't adhere firmly and fast, but this doesn't matter because the hot cake should be cut in the pan and lifted out with a wide spatula or pancake turner.

Old-time recipes, and some modern ones, suggest "flouring" the berries, but this we have never found an infallible solution. One way to get around the blueberry problem is to use a thick batter, and that's what we have done in the following recipe. Serve this Blueberry Coffee Cake warm from the oven for a satisfying mealtime dessert or at snack time. You'll enjoy it particularly if you like a cake that is not overly sweet.

To make it we use the conventional butter-type cake method. Here, for new cooks, are a few reminders about this technique.

In this method butter and sugar are "creamed" — this means to beat them together with an electric mixer or with the back of a slotted wooden spoon drawn firmly against the sides of the bowl, until the mixture is about the consistency of whipped cream. We suspect that this resemblance to whipped cream consistency is the reason the word "cream" first came to be used as a verb in the terminology for making butter-type cakes. The sugar-cinnamon mixture strewn over the top of this coffee-cake batter won't adhere firmly and fast, but this doesn't matter because the hot cake should be cut in the pan and lifted out with a wide spatula or pancake turner.

BLUEBERRY COFFEE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 large egg, 1/2 cup milk, 2 cups blueberries, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon mixed with 1 tablespoon sugar.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; add egg and beat well. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients in 3 additions alternating with the milk just until barely smooth. Fold in blueberries.

Turn into a buttered cake pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches); spread evenly with a small spatula taking care not to mash the berries. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until a cake-tester inserted in the center comes out clean.

Place cake in pan on wire rack; let stand 5 to 10 minutes; loosen edges with a small spatula; cut into 9 squares remove with wide spatula; serve at once. If cake is made ahead, reheat because it is fluffiest and tastes best when warm.

Note: After rinsing blueberries with cold water, drain and then dry well on paper toweling.

STAYING AT GORMLEY'S

MAYS LANDING, N. J. (AP) — The postman knows immediately where to deliver letters addressed to "Gormley's Hotel." That's the Atlantic County jail.

Jail officials said they permit prisoners to use that address to prevent embarrassment. Gormley is Sheriff Gerald L. Gormley.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Facts About Appendicitis

Important facts you should know about appendicitis—compiled by surgeons at Massachusetts General Hospital:

Acute appendicitis develops in more than 200,000 Americans each year. It is accountable for over 7,000 deaths yearly.

When the inflammation is seen in its earliest phases, the death rate is less than one-tenth of 1 per cent. When it is seen a little later, after the inflamed appendix has burst, the death rate rises to 3.6 per cent. And, if the operation is still further delayed, for whatever reason, and an abscess forms around the inflamed and burst appendix the death rate exceeds 13 per cent.

Despite great advances in surgical treatment, including use of miracle drugs, the death rate in the last group of appendiceal abscess has not been significantly reduced. And, what is especially important to prospective patients, the record shows that persons with appendicitis are seen no earlier in their disease today than they were 23 years ago.

IN THEIR REPORT, the surgeons tend to excuse referring physicians for this delay.

If their conclusion is correct, and if it is applicable to the country as a whole, then the cause for the continued mortality must rest with patients, especially the elderly, and with the parents of young patients who delay seeking medical consultation at a time when the inflamed appendix can be removed almost without risk.

For that reason, it may be wise to consider the early signs of acute appendicitis:

Pain in the right lower region of the abdomen that may, as a matter of experience, first begin in the pit of the stomach before it settles down below; fever, however slight, perhaps only a few tenths of a degree above normal; tenderness when the painful region is ever so gently poked.

And, in the case of infants and children too young to express themselves, whining and crying with a tendency to draw up the legs when approached.

If and when distress persists and is accompanied by fever and nausea or actual vomiting, the time for amateur observation has come to an end and the problem had best be turned over to the nearest physician.

Jack Hurray with a double and two singles led the way for the winners. Howard Fowler, Gary Cosgrove and Mike Malloy rapped a single each for Fisher's.

In yesterday's News it was incorrectly reported that the Elks won on a forfeit over the Eljer. The Eljer aggregation moves on to the winners' bracket while the Elks drop to the losers' bracket.

Petrucchi's took a 4-1 lead in the first canto and never was headed as it scored an 8-3 victory over Bricker & Bricker.

The winners tallied only four hits but eight walks and three Bricker miscues aided the Petrucchi nine. Dennis Heim with two hits and Bob Briskin with a double featured for the winners.

Powerful Field In Golf Classic

Top Pros Tee Off Today At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—One of the most powerful fields assembled this year will tee off today in the American Golf Classic, chasing a top prize of $9,000 in the $50,000 pool.

Heading the list are defending champion Jay Hebert, Masters and British Open Champion Arnold Palmer, U.S. Open winner Jack Nicklaus and PGA titlist Gary Player, who lost to Hebert in a sudden-death playoff here last year.

Palmer, while shooting a practice round of one-over-par 71 Wednesday was stung by a bee on the left wrist. The Pennsylvania strong boy had a slight puff on his wrist, but didn't expect to be bothered by it.

Also playing are Dow Finsterwald of Athens, who shot a 70 practice round Wednesday, and Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby, who had a 69.

The field of 99 will be cut to 90 after the second round Friday and only the low 60 will compete in Sunday's final round. If there is a tie, another sudden-death playoff will be held.

The tournament will be played over the 7,165 - yard Firestone Country Club course.

Yankees, Orioles Split; Twins Lose

BOSTON (AP)—Boston staged an old-fashioned tea party here Wednesday night and made the Cleveland Indians and big winner Dick Donovan victims of the scalping.

Gene Conley spun a four-hitter and his mates pounded out 11 hits for a 6-0 triumph that sent Donovan down to his fifth defeat in 20 decisions. It was the 11th shutout against the Indians, 10 of them on the road.

Conley Evens Mark

Conley evened his record at 10-10 and his win total represents one-fifth of Boston's total victories. The 6-foot-8 right-hander posted his first triumph since taking a four-day vacation from baseball two weeks ago in which he planned a trip to Israel. That vacation cost him a reported $2,000 fine.

The Red Sox, inspired by Conley's fine pitching, smacked across six runs in the first four innings against Donovan, who lasted only five innings.

Gary Geiger, the former Indians outfielder, was Donovan's chief tormentor with a double and two singles. He drove in three runs. Lu Clinton delivered a two-run triple as Boston counted runs in the initial frame.

No Favorite In All-Star Battle

South Has Edge In Weight; North Fast

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Rival captains came up with victory predictions today as Ohio's North-South squads tapered off for Friday night's 17th annual high school all-star football game.

Ken Ivan, Massillon's two-way, All-Ohio end and a done of the North's three captains, said: "we look for a tough game, but the better conditioned team will come out on top and we are in better condition."

Rick Sygar, Niles halfback, and Pete Melchoir, Canton Central Catholic tackle, the other Yankee co-captains, echoed Ivan's sentiments.

Speaking for the Rebel cause, co-captain Tom Barrington of Lima Senior, an offensive halfback and defensive linebacker, said, "We've got a good chance. We have a fine team, the boys are working together, morale is high and we have a lot of respect for our coaches."

Co-captain John Palmer of Kettering Fairmont, a two-way end, said: "It looks like a close one, but the South can take it just like we did a year ago. We've got some go-getters with a lot of desire."

The rival coaches, Southern Bob Wion of Martins Ferry and Yankee Bill Van Brocklin of Poland, refused to pick a winner. Each said it looked so close that a break could decide it either way.

One thing appeared certain. The South had a heavy weight advantage and the North was conceded an edge in speed. The South will operate from the straight - T formation and the North from the winged-T.

The week-long clinic held in connection with the game attracted 431 coaches from 24 states and more than 60 were college mentors. It is the largest clinic in the event's 17 years.

By The Associated Press PITCHING—Bob Gibson, Cardinals, blanked Pittsburgh 2-0 on three hits for fourth shutout, striking out 10 while walking only two.

Ground Breaking Festivities Saturday NFL Hall Of Fame Building To Start

By FRITZ HOWELL Associated Press Sports Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Back in 1920 in a dimly lit garage the National Football League was born here. Franchises currently worth millions were a paltry $100.

Now at a peak of popularity after more than two score years of ups and downs professional football pauses Saturday to start construction of a sanctuary for some of its most highly prized players and possessions.

Rozell Turns First Spade

Pete Rozelle, youthful commissioner of the NFL, will turn the first spadeful of earth at 10 a.m. on the spot where an ultra modern hall of fame will rise within a year.

This community, football hotbed for half a century, raised $399,000 from 1,100 donors for the new structure. Each league team gave $1,000. The building will cost $366,000, not counting the ornate furnishing, and an annual budget of some $70,000 will perpetuate the shrine.

From all over the country exhibits of the olden golden days of the game have been pouring in to Dick McCann, $20,000-per-year director of the hall of fame who served 16 years as general manager of the Washington Redskins. All will have their place in the hall to be constructed on a 16-acre park plot just north of the city's Fawcett Stadium.

Giants-Cards Meet Saturday

Saturday's festivities wind up under the Fawcett Stadium lights as the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals stage their first exhibition game of the season. Each club gets a $15,000 guarantee, but McCann said the hall of fame should wind up with at least a $35,000 profit from the $5-per-ticket gate.

A selection committee to name the hall of famers is being set up among newspaper, radio and television personnel in each of the NFL cities. The first entrants, probably 11, will be enshrined next year as the Cleveland Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers meet here in an early season exhibition.

RACING FAMILY

DENVER (AP)—The Houghton family is keeping busy at Centennial Race Track this season. Father Dan is a trainer and so are two of his sons, Bob and Mel. Two other sons, Ronnie and Gary, are jockeys.

Lombardi Worried About Running Game

Packers Get First Pro Test Against Cowboys

By The Associated Press When Green Bay beat the College All-Stars 42-20 in Chicago last week, Paul Hornung of the Packers said, "A pro team would have eaten us by five touchdowns."

The National Football League champion Packers get their first pro test in a pre-season game with the Dallas Cowboys Friday night at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Vin Lombardi, coach of the Packers, was not too happy about the failure of his running game to make dents in the All-Star line. However, the Packers have a long way to go before the NFL season opens Sept. 16. They most certainly have been working on their running game during the past week. Both Hornung and Jim Taylor will be sharper with a week's work.

The Packers may find Dallas more vulnerable in pass defense, however, for coach Tom Landry has two seasoned backs on the sidelines due to injuries. They are a starter in 1961. To man the defensive backfield spots, Landry will use two rookies, Mike Gaechter of Oregon and John Chaisson of Tulane, both signed as free agents.

Don Meredith, ready for the big test in his third year as a pro, will direct the Cowboys from the quarterback spot, passing to Billy Howton, Dick Bielski and Frank Clarke.

There also will be a six-game program of exhibition games among National Football League teams Saturday and one Friday night as well as two Saturday games among American League teams. The American League also will have a Sunday game featuring the New York Titans and Buffalo at New Haven. On Friday night it will be Houston and Denver at Atlanta.

Manny Karako of Youngstown posted a three-under-par 69 Wednesday to take three stroke lead in the 30th Ohio Public Links Invitational Golf Championship being played at the Oakhurst Country Club in Columbus.

Bill Harding of East Palestine and Marion Heck of Columbiana both fired 74's and are expected to survive the cutoff today after the second 18 holes. Richard Mahon of Columbiana recorded a 78.

Other local golfers competing in the tourney include Steve Pavelko with an 89 and Warren Laughlin with an 84. Both are from Columbiana.

Odom's Sohio Triumphs Over Italian Club In Class A Playoff 4-2

Dems Win, Then Lose To Smithfield In District

Top-seeded Smithfield Falcon A. C. lived up to its advance billing by rolling past the Salem Democrats 7-0 on Don Poole's one-hitter in one of two District 14 Fastpitch Softball Tournament games at Kelley Park Wednesday.

In the other Thursday encounter the Democrats nipped the Minerva Gottschall-Hutchinson nine 3-2. After its defeat to Smithfield the Democrats joined Minerva in the losers' bracket of the double elimination tournament.

ODOM'S SOHIO SCORED a 4-2 victory over the Italian Club to capture the first Class A playoff series 2-0. Odom's is the league leader with a 16-5 mark.

Smithfield had little trouble rolling in its 25th triumph in 28 outings as it took a 2-0 lead in the first canto and coasted to victory.

The Democrats now have an 18-12 record.

Pacing the Smithfield nine - hit attack was second baseman Joe Jackson as he rapped a double and two singles. Franklin Tyler added a double and a single for the winners.

Chuck Henderson collected a single off winning hurler Poole in the fifth stanza for the Democrats' lone safety.

In gaining the victory Poole fanned 15 of the 25 batters he faced and issued only one walk. Frank Paytors suffered the loss for the Democrats.

The Democrats earned the right to tangle with the Falcon crew by upending the Minerva Gottschall aggregation in a nip - and-tuck affair.

SALEM TOOK A 2-0 margin in the first canto as Chuck Wilson singled, Chuck Henderson walked and Dave Williams socked a two-run triple. Minerva tied the count in the second on a single by Jack Hudson and three walks.

With one out in the third inning Henderson walked, advanced on a sacrifice by Williams and was brought home with the winning tally when Bob Morris doubled.

For the next four and a half frames the Democrats' Frank Paytors, who relieved starter Jerry Bryson in the second, held the Minerva nine in check. Paytors received the victory.

Morris with a double and a single featured for the Democrats. Leon Hostetter rapped a double to show the way for the losers.

Odom's Sohio moved to a 2-0 lead in the second stanza on a walk, a double by Jim Smith and a single by Ray Hertel. The Italian Club closed the gap to 2-1 in the fourth when Dick Jeffries tripled and was brought home on a single by Dave Schuster.

Another two-run rally in the fifth canto gave the victory to Odom's. Smith's second double, a single by Dick Good and two walks sparked the rally.

JIM HUGHES CLOUTED

leadoff homer in the top of the seventh canto for the Italian Club but losers' rally ended.

Smith paced the winners with two hits while Schuster collected two safeties for the Italian Club.

Don Fife was the winning pitcher, going the distance. Starting hurler Mike Paster took the loss.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

In this business we like to think that all our customers are nice people, most of them are. Every now and then a real stinker will appear.

"We had a shop lifter in. He took a deck of cards, left the box and one card on top, the extra joker. He wasn't kidding, we can do very well without his kind. I would rather he would shop somewhere where they give trading stamps.
